CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS IMPORTANT SESSION

There was the usual good attendance at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Florence Restaurant last Tuesday noon, and the same bountiful, well selected and well prepared food was enjoyed by those present.

Saturday afternoon, May 28, was decided as the proper date for "Clean-Up" day, when everybody possible should turn out and give a helping hand to a very worthy movement. A committee including H. B. Rathburn, Ben Murphy and Dr. Charles Law was appointed to work out the details of the campaign.

President Duffy stated that a special invitation had been extended by those in charge of the Garden Party to be given Saturday, May 21, dinner being served from 12 to 1:30, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Shinn, when the Toyan branch of the Baby Hospital at Oakland, will have charge of an all-day benefit program, proceeds to be given the worthy institution just mentioned.

The following officers and members of the Oakland District Council of Boy Scouts, comprising all of Alameda county with the exception of Piedmont, Berkeley and Alameda, dined with the Chamber of Commerce of Niles last Tuesday: Abe P. Leach, president; Carsten E. Schmidt, vice-president; E. C. Elliott, commissioner; Allen Hibbard, E. W. Burr, H. J. Bemis executive committee and Henry L. Honkins, field man. Afterwards they adiourned to the office of Jones & Ellsworth to take up the much debated controversy of a Boy Scout master for Niles, a report of which will be found eleswhere in this issue of The Register.

President Duffy reported having visited the Centerville Chamber of Commerce last Thursday and received a very cordial welcome, and an invitation to the Niles Chamber of Commerce to meet with them, which will be accepted in the near future.

Mayor Jones complained he had been slighted when the pimiento Kraft cheese was passed, with the compliments of Jack Crawford, and promptly his wants were satisfied.

Harvey Braun was appointed a delegate to attend the opening celebration of the Carquinez Bridge, May 21.

Fred M. Drew resigned, and Emmel Dias was appointed in charge of the dump ground committee.

The committee on parking privileges were requested by the president to " get busy."

The Township Register in reporting last week's Chamber of Commerce meeting erred in commenting on a motion of Jack Crawford that the organization should communicate with the county supervisors regarding the awful condition of the Niles-Hayward highway. This is a state not a county road, and it will be necessary to get in touch with the state highway commissioners to get results. It is to be hoped that Secretary Bristow will receive a favorable report from "the powers that be," in the near future.

AN INDUSTRIOUS MAN MEETING WITH SUCCESS

F. C. Wellington has purchased two acres of land from the California Nursery, west and adjoining Niles, and will start a chicken ranch in the near future. The laying house will be constructed after the University of California type and up to date in every respect, including cement floors. Mr. Wellington has another place near the Victory Mfg. Co., and works in between times for the company. He will have about 2500 chickens to start with in his new place and will continue to increase his flocks as time rolls on. It is the industrious men of Mr. Wellington's type that comprise the successful business men of the present day in California.

SUNRISE MEETING FOR C. E.

Last Sunday morning at 4:30 members of the Triangle C. E., gathered at the Congregational church and hiked to the top of Rose Hill for a sunrise meeting. As the beautiful bright sun came over the hills the group sang, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty, Early in the morning, Our song shall rise to Thee." Then followed a devotional study of the question Jesus put to Peter following the Resurrection, "Lovest Thou Me:" and the service closed with a worship service from the new "Hymnal For American Youth." After devotional service the group prepared their breakfast of ham, eggs, coffee and sandwiches. The departing minutes were taken up with enthusiastic " Rahs" for those who had helped in a special way to make the meeting such a splendid success. The meeting was heartily enjoyed by all and especially by those who had seldom been up so early in the morning.

WHIST PARTY

JACK GOLDNER SCOUTMASTER

At a meeting of the officers and members of the Oakland District Council of Boy Scouts in Niles last Tuesday, the names of which are given elsewhere in this issue, with a local committee from the Chamber of Commerce, comprising F. V. Jones, E. A. Ellsworth, George Donavan, L. J. Duffy, Harvey Braun, Dr. C. H. Law, H. B. Rathbun and Jack Crawford, selected Jack Goldner as Scoutmaster for Niles.

NILES FIRE DEPARTMENT CHIEF RE-ELECTED

H. B. Rathburn was re-elected chief of the Niles fire department and F. V. Jones, local real estate man, was made an honorary lieutenant at the annual meeting of members of the department. Other officers named were F. V. Jones, president; Chester Abrott, secretary, and J. J. Abley, treasurer.

BOY AT PLAY IS BITTEN BY VICIOUS DOG

Tony Galinda, 4, was treated at the Emergency hospital of Dr. C. H. Law Monday for a badly lacerated arm as the result of "snap judgment" on the part of a dog. The boy was playing in the yard and fell in front of the dog. The dog mistook the mishap for an attempt to take away a bone that he was gnawing, when the canine bit him.

CANNERY STARTS ABOUT JUNE 15

The Schuckl & Co., cannery of Niles, expects to start up about June 15. Already people are arriving to work in this institution the coming season. About 400 are employed at fair wages, some of the experts making big money. The Schuckl cannery confines itself to apricots, pears, peaches and possibly cherries this year. The season's canning last about four months and makes a splendid pay roll for Niles during that time. J. E. Townsend is manager of this important institution to whom any further information should be addressed.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM AT BENEFIT GARDEN FETE

Washington Township is expected to attend in toto the garden party to be given Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Shinn on the Niles-Centerville road, proceeds to be used for the Baby Hospital in Oakland.

This event, planned annually by the Toyan Branch is looked forward to as one of the gala events of the early summer and this year's festival promises to out-strip all former ones, a constant round of entertainment having been planned that will be acceptable to young and old of every taste and inclination.

Mrs. James R. Whipple, chairman, announced her committees in last week's Register, these ladies having been busy all week perparing for Saturday's program which in brief is as follows:

Noon.—Cafeteria dinner . Various organizations to attend in groups. All guests are asked to wear old-time costumes. Music will be a feature of the luncheon.

Vocal music by Mrs. Antrin Bunting of San Jose and Mrs. Chas. Stewart of San Francisco.

Any person wishing to donate articles to be sold in the various booths is asked to communicate with Mrs. Shinn or Mrs. Whipple.

Several industrial concerns will stage demonstrations. Special entertainment will be provided for the children.

It is suggested that this would be a good opportunity to "pay off some social debts." Invite your friends to a game of bridge at the garden party, purchase your prizes at the booths, or arrange for a table of guests at the luncheon at noon.

DON'T MISS CARD PARTY FOR CAMP FIRE "CAMP"

Among the organizations which deserve most the support and cooperation of the public are the scout groups both for boys and for girls, Tolahia Group of the Camnfire Girls being a representative of these clubs in Niles. An excellent opportunity for giving material proof of your belief in the theory that wholesome recreation must be provided if unwholesome temptations are to be avoided, will be the card party to be held at the Niles Grammar school tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Proceeds of this party will be used for camp expenses of the club. Prizes are to be given and refreshments are to be served. Miss Elizabeth Shinn, president, is assisting the guardian, Mrs. J. E. Townsend with the arrangements and a jolly evening is assured all those who attend.

RED CROSS HAS PICNIC FOR BOYS AT HOSPITAL

Seventy-five boys from the Veterans' Hospital at Livermore were guests of the Washington Township Red Cross Chapter at a picnic supper at the Water Temple Wednesday. Citizens of the township either drove or offered the use of their cars for carrying the boys from and to the hospital and various organizations assisted in making the arrangements, Red Cross officials stating that the cooperation given them was most helpful and greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Carrie Emerson, president of the chapter, and Mrs. F. V. Jones, secretary, assisted by Mrs. George Hellwig had general charge of arrangemetns. The list of those lending their cars was not available to The Register, but among the group were Mrs. Walter Robie, Mrs. George Hellwig and August May of Alvarado; Mrs. F. M. Drew, Mrs. Lester Duffey, Edward Rose, Mr. Moise, Mrs. Chas. G. Law, Supervisor Richmond, Mr. J. C. Shinn and Mrs. F. V. Jones of Niles; Fred Dusterberry, Howard Chadbourne and Mr. Botelho, of Centerville.

Members of the Blue Bird Club of Newark made the candy for the occasion, an abundance of home-made cake and candy being provided so that the boys had some to take back to the hospital with them.

Tuscano, well-known chef of this vicinity, barbecued the spring lambs that had been provided by the Red Cross, with which were served home-made relishes, salads, and all the fixings for a real picnic banquet including ice cream. The tables were decorated most attractively.

The cars were at the hospital at 3:30 o'clock, returning with the boys after an evening of recreation and entertainment.

CLUB WOMEN OF COUNTY CLOSE YEAR WITH PARTY

Members of the Country Club of Washington Township had as their guests more than one hundred representative women of Alameda county at a delightful garden party given last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Shinn on the Centerville-Niles road. Martha Lee, director of Home Economics Department of the Oakland Tribune, chosen as the speaker of the day, was enthusiastically received when she reviewed in a comprehensive but humorous way some of the interesting aspects of th old cook book contest recently conducted through her column in The Tribune.

Preceeding the luncheon an executive meeting was held at the club house in Centerville. A feature of the day was the introduction of new officers by their retiring predecessors, many of whom, however, are succeeding themselves.

New officers of the County Federation who will assume active charge of their respective duties at the next meeting to be held the fourth Thursday in September are:

Mrs. Luther Williamson of Berkeley, president.

Mrs. Chas. Bruce of Pleasanton, first vice-president.

Mrs. Maud Graham, treasurer.

Mrs. E. N. Ketchum, auditor.

Mrs. William W. Robson, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Andrew Irving of Berkeley, recording secretary.

Since this was not a regular meeting there was no roll call of the 33 clubs represented. The following new presidents (or re-elected) were introduced by the retiring officials:

Mrs. J. A. McVey, of the Fruitvale Woman's Club, Oakland, introduced by Mrs. Charles Quayle, retiring president.

THREE CHILDREN BADLY CRUSHED IN A COLLISION

At Morrison Canyon crossing of the Western Pacific a Ford truck being driven by Tony Sanche Tuesday evening was struck by the gasoline car, seriously injuring Josephine Sanche, 18, John 8, and Jean, 12. Josephine was cut on the head, with possible fracture of skull, crushed chest and badly bruised leg. John received crushed chest and possibly internal injuries. Jean received bad cuts and bruises. Mrs. Sanche who was also in the car, escaped, with Mr. Sanche, unharmed, remarkable to relate. First aid was given by Dr. Law, after which the injured ones were taken to the Hayward general hospital.

MR. HUSTEAD TALKS AT THE GUILD MEETING

The last meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Congregational church, was featured by the presence of Mr. D. L. Hustead, who is in town as demonstrator for the Wearever Aluminum Utensils and the new method of cookery without water, devised by the manufacturers of that standard ware. Mr. Hustead gave an intresting talk upon foods and their constituent elements. He emphasized the fact that the usual ways of preparing foods, especially vegetables, often leave them in unattractive form; that they are distasteful to children, to whom they are so essential; and that much, or all, of the very valuable mineral elements they contain are entirely lost. Cooking without water, however, according to this new method, not only saves these elements, but also produces viands so palatable that even those accustomed to refuse vegetables, speedily come to like them. In the case of meats, the cheapest cuts may thus be made entirely acceptable.

And then, in proof of his statements, Mr. Hustead served to his auditors an appetizing meal of meat, potatoes, and carrots, prepared by himself, and in process of cooking in the church kitchen while he had been talking to the Guild members.

In the much regretted absence of the president, Mrs. A. A. Hatch, detained at home by illness, there was no business transacted. The hostesses previously announced for the day, Mrs. A. W. Seebart and Grant Marden, graciously gave way to Mr. Hustead, and will serve at the next meeting of the Guild, May 25th.

"AFTER 6 DAYS" HERE MAY 23-4

The newest screen production to come from Italy is "After Six Days," which critics and the public throughout the United States are acclaiming to be the greatest human story of all times and by far the finest production of it's kind ever made. The Niles Theatre is to be congratulated on securing it for showing in Niles for two days, Monday and Tuesday, May 23 and 24, as the production is brand new and comes direct from the biggest cities where it has enjoyed phenomenal success.

With a cast of 50,000 Italians, costing over $3,000,000 to make, and taking five years in Italy and Palestine to complete, "After Six Days" presents a beautifully told picturization of the Old Testament covering a period from the creation of Adam and Eve up to and including the songs of Solomon.

"After Six Days" presents in awe-inspiring perfection the creation of Adam and Eve; the slaying of Abel by Cain, the building of Noah's Ark, the construction of the Tower of Babel, the Deluge, the destruction by fire and brimstone of the wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, the story of Joseph and his brethern in Egypt, the life of Moses, the Golden Calf, the court of Pharoah and Solomon and the Judgement of Solomon.

When it became necessary to transport the 600 Italian principals from Italy to Palestine the producers, who had just about emptied their treasury, appealed to the Italian Government for finiancial aid and the government impressed with the massive and beautiful undertaking, aided in making the completion of the picture possible.

It is the duty of every man and child to see this great photoplay—it is awe-inspiring and tremendous in theme and the Niles Theatre will present it for two days only at 50c for adults and 25c for children. The showings will start at 7 p. m., and 9:20 p. m., and Monday and Tuesday, May 23-24 are the dates. You have never before had the opportunity of seeing such a production as "After Six Days" and you may never again have a similar opportunity—so a word of advice—don't miss it.

AUTOIST LOSES HIS LICENSE

CENTERVILLE, May 17.—Manuel Fernandez, of Fruitvale, had his operator's license suspended for 90 days yesterday when he faced trial on a charge of reckless driving and admitted to Justice of the Peace Allen G. Norris that he had been drinking.

CLOTHING CLASSES WILL STAGE FASHION SHOW

On Friday evening, May 27, at 8 o'clock, the Clothing Classes of the Washington Union high school will stage a fashion shown under the direction of Mrs. Morris, teacher of Home Economics.

The setting will be carried out in the atmosphere of the rue de la Paris. The scene is the shop of a Modiste whose beautifully gowned models will step forth to the soft strains of the school orchestra.

Sport dresses, afternoon frocks, dainty party dresses, suits and evening gowns will be a part of the exhibit. An assortment of hand painted hankerchiefs will be an added attraction.

The cooking classes will present an exhibit of their own, displaying a model breakfast table and various foods representing 100 calorie portions.

The posters advertising the fashion show were painted by the high school students. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Doors will be open at 7 o'clock .

RED REFLECTOR FOR HIGHWAY ASKED

In an effort to curb accidents and protect motorists, the Chamber of Commerce is seeking to have a red reflector at the junction of the Centerville and Oakland, San Jose highway. Members of the body will confer with the County Engineer, George Posey to have the safety signals erected. This is the proper move for Niles in "Safety First," work, as that junction is a very dangerous one to the motorist and a signal should have been there long ago.

AUGUST TUANA WILL ERECT BUSINESS BUILDING

Ground was broken yestreday morning on the August Tuano premises, First street, next door to the Florence restaurant, for a stucco finish building 25x50, which Mr. Tuana will occupy as a soft drink and ice cream parlor.

TAXPAYERS ARE BEING NOTIFIED

Emanuel George, deputy assessor, was in Niles last week, issuing little blanks, to be filled out by property owners, real and personal, of Niles, and they read as follows:

Notice to Taxpayers

"All taxpayers are required by the Constitution to annually make and deliver to the assessor a statement under oath, setting forth specifically all the real and personal property owned by such person, or in his possession, or under his control, at 12 o'clock, meridian, on the first Monday in March. Sec. 10 1-2, Article XIII, provides for exemption from taxation of one hundred dollars valuation of personal property of each householder.

"Accordingly you are required by law to fill up this assessment blank and to deliver the same at the office of the Assessor within ten days, making the oath.

"All property must be assessed at its "full cash value." The terms "value" and "full cash value" mean the amount at which property would be taken if taken in payment of a just debt due from a solvent debtor. If any person, after demand made by the Assessor, neglects or refuses to give under oath, the statement herein provided for, or to comply with the other requirements of this title, the Assessor must make an estimate of the value of the property of such person; and the value so fixed by the Assessor must not be reduced by the Board of Supervisors.

Motordom's Highest Achievement—
the speed, power and safety of Super-Six Performance in a Nationwide "Demonstration Week"

Hudson dealers were never so busy—our sales were never so large—customers were never so pleased—the value never so great.

Thousands of cars have been sold without opportunity to demonstrate them. Demand has kept the market stripped so that few but imminent buyers have had an opportunity to ride.

Now with Hudson dealers giving principle attention for one week to demonstrating the new Hudson Super-Six, all motordom may have first hand experience of what is possible with the Super-Six principle released in full capacity. Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you can never know.

You see Hudsons everywhere. You admire their striking beauty. You note their flashing performance. And you see in them the greatest values motordom has ever offered.

In appearance, beauty of detail and finish, and in performance, you compare Hudson with cars costing twice as much. Make it stand out in your mind that Hudson's price is hundreds of dollars below any car with which it is compared.

Take advantage of this special demonstration opportunity. Ride in the New Hudson Super-Six even if you have no immediate intention of getting a new car.

This age of high standards welcomes the Camel quality

MODERN smokers are the most exacting ever known, and they place Camel first among cigarettes.

For Camel was created to succeed in the hardest-to-please age ever known. It was made to satisfy those who demand the utmost, and modern smokers have given it such popularity as no other cigarette ever had.

If you're downright hard to please, just try Camels. Tobacco taste and fragrance will be revealed as never before, for Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, supremely blended. Fleda O. Bunting Writes Us a Letter

Jerome, Arizona, May 11, 1927.
Editor Township Register:—

I wish to thank you for your newspaper of May 5. What is not news at home is quite newsy away.

We left home April 25, stopping at night at Pismo Beach; then on to Los Angeles where we remained a week. Our route led through the Imperial Valley and the trip was very warm. They have the same trouble that our farmers do; plenty of produce but no price.

We read learned articles about the "lack of industry" and the "insufficiency of the farmer," but that does not explain why they get 4 cents a head per. crate for lettuce and a few miles away the price to the consumer is from ten cents to two for fifteen cents the head. The same thing happens with grapefruit, tomatoes and all other market garden produce. We would like to hear something of the efficiency of the commission men; to see some articles on their method of using up 50 per cent to get a living. When farmers get 7 or 8 cents a pound for beef—and that just covers expense—we have to pay 35 to 45 cents a pound. Why?

Imperial Valley has this trouble. The irrigating ditches. The water fills them with silt and then the streams are a real menance when the flood waters come.

From Banning to Whitewater there were fine crops; beyond there was unclaimed land overgrown with cactus. We could see Salton Sea for many miles. At El Centro we spent the night at the fine "Barbara Worth" hotel. It was in this section, 60 feet below sea level, that Harold Bell Wright wrote his famous book, "The Winning of Barbara Worth." The characters are mainly well known and many of them are still living here.

We left early the next morning and at Yuma we were stopped by a government inspector who examined our load, chiefly for fruits, but as we had a clean bill we were ticketed with a yellow label and sent on our way. We were surprised at the fine crops of wheat and alfalfa in parts of Arizona; and then would come desert. A long the rim of the mountains we could see clouds of dust, but did not run into it.

At Gila Bend we turned north and began to see that it had been a wet winter. At Gillespie dam the bridge was partially gone and a detour sent us directly into the water front of the dam. For a block and a half we cautiously crept along and came safely through. At Hassayampa the bridge was gone, but we passed without trouble.

Between Phoenix and Wickenburg there were some deep washouts on each side of the road with huge rocks exposed. We found a fine paved road on the desert between Yuma and Sentinel, 13 1 2 miles of it, and all the way the detour, a planked road with narrow turn-outs in places, was to be seen.

We went through Prescott at noon and struck a road that was all sharp turns with no railings or protection from the outer edges. We were glad to reach the little town of Jerome, clinging to the mountain side. We have a grand view. In the valley is the great smelter and mill town of Clarksdale, 6 miles away. In the afternoon one can plainly see Verdi river and val ley, the latter about 20 miles across, the rim having all colorings of the Grand Canyon. In the afternoon the sun casts wonderful lights—the reds, yellows and creams standing out, with bright greens here and there. The sulphur is not conducive to flowers and fruits, but one can see vines and trees.

Last evening we drove thirty miles to the wonderful red cliffs and also saw "The Castle," a huge rock standing by itself and very much resembling a mediaeval castle. Montezuma's Castle, a prehistoric landmark, is near here and we expect to visit it shortly.

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

Tanlac Relieves Many Ills

Health Ravaged by Bad Heart, Nervousness and Sour Stomach, Mrs. McLean Manages to Avert Disaster. Health and Strength Are Restored. Gains 38 Pounds.

"Take Tanlac—that is my advice to everybody, and it is from one who has tried it," says Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, 4171 Lincoln Ave., Oakland, Cal.

"Four or five years ago I first used it, and ever since then have depended on it. Then I was afflicted generally—had to build up or give up entirely. My stomach was in an awful state, my heart bothered me and I could not eat. I was so weak and nervous, I kept losing weight and strength, my health seemed wrecked, nothing helped me.

"But six or eight bottles of Tanlac put me back in splendid condition. My stomach troubles gave way; I gained perfect digestion and with it an appetite hard to satisfy. I increased in weight from 120 to 158 pounds. Tanlac is my formula for good health. It is and always will be the best."

Tanlac made of roots, barks and herbs, helps build up scrawny, weak bodies, drive out causes of suffering and give the body good health.

County Horticultural Commissioner L. O. Haupt of Kings County, says that present indications are that Kings County apricots and peaches will be about half a crop this season, prunes, normal, and it is too early to say what the grape crop will be.

California farmers are being advised to burn all possible wild growth about their cultivated areas, this spring, as a means of killing off millions of aphis families, now feeding on wild growth, before they migrate to the cultivated crops.

Grain prospects are excellent in the big Tulare Lake section. All irrigated grain and that sown early is looking fine, but the late sown and that on high land has been feeling the effects of the unusually hot weather of late April. The grain is holding its own very well and prospects for a big grain harvest still continue excellent.

The Kadota fig growers of the Terra Bella section, after a number of meetings, are reported to have decided to pool their product. It is said that one packing company is offering 7¼ cents a pound delivered, which is the same price as was paid last year. The fig growers are seriously considering an affiliation with the State Fig Association.

Tulare County's 39,966 acres of oranges, lemons and grapefruit is undergoing a boost in acreage this season, according to Frank R. Brann, county horticultural commissioner. Good prices in the citrus field have induced an increase in citrus planting noticeable in the Lindsay and Ivanhoe districts, northern and southern Tulare County regions.

Plans for immediate construction of a seven-story, class A hotel in Merced, have been announced by P. C. Denson and F. S. Gardner of San Francisco. The new structure will occupy a lot 150 by 100 feet and will have 250 rooms. The project involves a total expenditure of $550,000, and it is expected, it will be completed within four months.

The cats of Kern County are facing a food problem, for, according to Joseph Keyes of the United States Biological Survey, an undiagnosed disease has killed off large numbers of mice in that county. This factor, together with the remedial measures employed by residents of Kern County have resulted in practically a 100 per cent kill, it is reported.

Modoc County sheepmen say that prospects in that county never looked better than at the present time. In spite of a rather backward, cold Spring, the lamb crop is unusally large and most of the lambs have been contracted for late Summer and early Fall delivery at a price of 10 to 10½ cents per pound, which will bring the price to an average of around $8 per head.

A new disease of cherries has appeared in Solano County, which the growers have called Buckskin Disease. The cherries, instead of ripening, assume a leathery texture and a rather yellow color. The trees usually die after two or three years. Investigated by the College of Agriculture of the University of California, no cause could be found for the trouble, but it is planned to make a further study of the disease this summer.

The biggest experimental orchard ever planted for the testing of rootstocks in relation to trees, has been completed at the University Farm, at Davis. The planting consists of 3000 trees, which include all the known root-stocks, budded with the trees commonly used upon them. Information on breakage, unions, growth, resistance to disease, etc., will be gathered form this orchard for the use of the fruit growers of the state.

Black end rot of pears, a disease that has caused trouble in nearly every pear district of the State, has been found mainly in orchards where pears were planted on Japanese roots, according to the College of Agriculture of the University of California. To overcome this trouble, recommendations are made that French seedlings be inarched into the trees, thus putting the pears on new roots. For large trees four seedlings are used, giving the orchards the appearance of being planted with "five legged trees".

The seventh annual ram sale and the third annual wool show will be held at the university farm on June 7th and 8th. It is under the auspices of the California Wool Growers' Association and is attracting wide attention.

The first commercial cantaloupe planting of any considerable size in Kings County has ben made this year on the Harp and Beckett ranch five miles south of Corcoran, where 100 acres have been set out. The plants are up and reported to be coming on well.

Twelve students of the College of Agriculture received degrees of bachelor of science at the commencement exercises at the University of California, at Berkeley last Wednesday. Thirty nondegree students have also been given diplomas for the completion of two years' work on the Davis farm. Those who received their sheepskins are: Richard G. Baines of Oakland, George H. Bath of Santa Rosa, William J. Beard of Upland, Eliot E. Brown of Oakland, Charles J. Burr of Glendale, Earle D. Davis of Caruthers, Maurice O. Doyle of Dixon, Miss Caro Godley of Napa, Herbert Livers of Escondido, Ralph H. Moss of Dixon and Thomas Whitaker of Monrovia.

Confronted with the problem of marketing the biggest cantaloupe crop in the history of Imperial Valley, growers representing two-thirds of the 37,000 acres planted to melons have agreed to assume a voluntary assessment of 20 cents an acre for inspection costs. It was stated that the Supervisors will contribute an equal amount from county funds. Growers and shippers agreed that the shipment of green or poorly flavored melons would have a demoralizing effect on the market and with a crop of from 15,000 to 19,000 cars to be sold, it is considered especially important that rigid inspection be enforced.

That drainage pumps have materially aided in lowering the water level in the Turlock irrigation district is evidenced from the fact that the water table has been lowered since 1918 from within four feet of the surface over 60,000 acres, representing approximately one-third of the district, to an average depth of five and three-quarters feet. The district is now operating sixty-five drainage pumps. Petitions have been presented the district board by farmers in the vicinity of four of the sixty-five pumps, asking that operation be discontinued and allow the water to raise sufficiently to sub-irrigate their land.

With puncture vine again making its appearance in eastern Contra Costa County, the Diablo Valley Chamber of Commerce has appealed to its members in a half dozen towns and farming districts to make a determined fight for eradication. During 1926 fifty-one infestations were noted in eastern Contra Costa County, and these localities are being watched closely for resumption of growth. As a means of aiding farmers in familiarizing themselves with the appearance of the vine, an exhibit has been prepared at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at Brentwood showing the plant in its various stages of growth.

Fifteen hundred carloads of Valencia oranges bringing an estimated total of $2,000,000 to the community will be shipped out of Lindsay this Spring. Over eight hundred cars have gone out to date on both roads and it is estimated that there are about 700 more to go. This Spring's crop of Valencias is one of the best for some time and is expected to run considerably ahead of last year when 1,260 cars went out. Not only is the yield heavier this year but the prices range somewhat higher than last season. The net price to the grower is estimated at $2.25 per box as against $2 per box last spring.

Orchardists in various sections of Napa County have reported that their trees are sour sapping. A careful check has been made by farm bureau officials on six different plantings in the county and it was found that the mortality of trees due to sour sap and gummosis was quite heavy on old vineyard land, while trees planted on entirely new ground did not show any of this trouble. The explanation given for this condition is that vines in particular must give off some toxic substance in the soil that weakens the vitality of the new trees, causing them to succumb to sour sap.

A Petaluma hatchery company, one of the world's biggest shippers of baby chicks, has been interviewing chicken men of the Dixon district, Solano County, with a view to extensively buying eggs here for hatching in their big plant at Petaluma. The representatives says that the peak of egg production is reached several weeks earlier in the Dixon section than at Petaluma. The premium over the market pricve paid for eggs for hatching runs as high as 12 cents a dozen. Eggs for hatching must be fertilized and be laid by good flocks of well culled hens.

Californians seem to have developed a great love of lamb. One of the most noticeable features of this fine year for the sheep men of the San Joaquin Valley is that the shipment of lambs east was smaller than for some years, most of the crop being consumed in this State. While heretofore about half the production of lambs was shipped East, this year very little went out, evidencing more appreciation by Californians of the delicious lamb chops and roasts produced on the west plains of the San Joaquin valley.

A gain of 24.9 per cent in number of freight cars loaded at Stockton in April over the number loaded during the same month last year is taken as indicative of prosperous agricultural and business conditions in the San Joaquin Valley.

Over 80 per cent acreage increase in Los Angeles County is reported by the Japanese Berry Growers' Association, the present total of plantings amounting to 1600 acres as against 900 acres last year. It is estimated that the berry crop should exceed $2,000,000 in value for 1927.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

The official recapitulation of the legislative measures sent to Governor Young shows a total of 1085 propositions concurred in by both houses during the forty-seventh session. This compares with 1076 two years ago. The number of measures introduced was 2355, against 2233 in 1925. In the Senate there were 897 bills introduced, of which only 453 reached the Governor. The thirty-three constitutional amendments were reduced to six by the close of the session, while the twenty-nine concurrent and twelve joint resolutions were cut to twenty and nine, respectively, during the session. The Assemblymen introduced 1294 bills, but only 569 were given final passage. They also framed thirty-five constitutional amendments and of these all but two were defeated. Twenty of the thirty-seven concurrent resolutions and half the eighteen joint resolutions also were beaten either on the floor or by the committees of the two houses.

The job of painting the world's largest highway bridge is nearing completion. Carquinez bridge—mighty span of steel and concrete flung across the turbulent neck of San Francisco Bay at its northern extremity—is undergoing its bath of battle-gray paint. Perched on scaffolding and clinging to guide ropes, 350 feet above the water, the brush wielders are "doing their stuff." It will require 90 tons of paint to cover the entire structure. This is the largest bridge painting job in the history of the West and is the largest single painting job on record in California. Every inch of the giant structure is being covered with three coats of weather-proof, specially prepared paint. One gallon of paint covers four tons of steel and this means that 90 tons of paint are required for the entire job.

How he battled his way to within 501 feet of the ice-clad summit of Mount Whitney without spikes and on short provisions was related by Hank Weber, San Rafael musher, who now is recovering from physical hardships suffered in his dash up the peak. After five unsuccessful attempts to be the first man to climb the highest mountain in the United States, Weber was ready to depart from Lone Pine with his team of airdale dogs for return to his home in Marin county. Weber is said to have gained a greater altitude on the mountain in its winter garb than perhaps any other man.

Miss Alice M. Reading of Anderson, daughter of Major P. B. Reading, recently discovered among the papers left by her father the original treaty of peace made at Reading's ranch, or Fort Reading, on August 16, 1851, and entered into by the chiefs of all the tribes in this part of the state. This treaty assigned to the Indians all the land on the east side of the Sacramento River from the mouth of Ash Creek, at Balls Ferry, up that stream twenty-five miles and thence north to Pitt River.

The Federal Land Bank of Berkeley reports that during the month of April, 1927, it paid the total of $758,300 to farm loan applicants in the district covering California, Utah, Nevada, and Arizona. Two hundred and twenty-six applications for loans were received, covering the total of $1,513,900. The number of loans allowed were 149. This made the gross number of loans allowed since organization of the bank in 1917 total 16,386, representing in cash $61,634,900.

California, long known as the world's fruit and vegetable basket, apparently has fame as the home of another product—pedigreed pigeons. For the state department of agriculture has been appealed to by a large Japanese importer for help in securing a shipment of highclass birds from California. Practically all varieties of pigeons are desired by the importer. The department will furnish information to pigeon breeders who request it.

The largest precast sewer pipe on the Pacific Coast is being laid in Sacramento as the first unit in the "million-dollar" sewer line authorized at the bond election last Summer. The line is being constructed on the ground, in sections weighing twelve tons each. The sections are nine feet in diameter and will be lowered in place with a crane. The sections are constructed with "slip joins" so that they may be joined and sealed with cement.

The automobile death roll in California during the last year was 1,623, an increase of 139 over the previous twelve months, according to final compilations made public by L. E. A huge cross, reputed to have been erected by the Ku Klux Klan, was set afire in the hills west of Martinez one night last week and attracted wide attention. An excited youth, believing a transformer on a power pole was afire, turned in a fire alarm. Another cross was erected at Bay Point and that was set afire, and it was reported that crosses were also erected and fired in other sections of Contra Costa county.

California is still having a harder job choosing a suitable figure to represent the State in Statuary Hall in Washington, D. C., than it usually has choosing a national committeeman. The two candidates for the Hall of Fame proposed by the Legislature are Fra Junipero Serra, representing the Spanish civilization of the State, and Thomas Starr King, representing the American era. No opposition has developed to the first named, but the selection of King is less fortunate. Former Senator Phelan is one of the leaders in the opposition to King.

Causes and Cures of Children's Colds

A child too heavily clothed is as much exposed to cold as one underdressed, warns Dr. Russell L. Cecil of Cornell university medical school. That's because too many clothes bring excessive perspiration once the child is indoors, followed by a rapid cooling equivalent to exposure in chilled air.

Other causes of colds often overlooked by parents, he writes in "Children, the Magazine for Parents," are indigestion and constipation, caused by poor diet and lack of exercise; overheated rooms where dry air lays bare the mucous membrane; diseased tonsils and adenoids, and infected sinuses which carry the cold bacteria dormant until the next opportunity for infection arrives.

Hot baths, hot drinks, simple diet and mild laxatives all are effective in treatment, he says, but the essential point, often ignored, is complete rest, allowing the body to use its whole strength in throwing off the infection.

ARE WE UTILIZING OUR RESOURCES

Are we utilizing our developed resources to their maximum economic advantage. Are we getting the highest possible return, financial and otherwise, from our irrigated areas—our hydro electricity—our transportation—our geographic location—our sunshine and soils.

California has more land under irrigation than any other state and 100 per cent more than the total area cultivated in Belgium or Holland, and 50 per cent more than Austria. Yet Belgium and Holland combined support 400 per cent more people with a consequent increase in wealth.

California has more developed hydro electric power than any other state except New York and more than any Nation except Norway, Italy and France, and 50 per cent more than Germany,, that supports a population of 62,500,000, on an area of 185,889 square miles, with an estimated wealth of $55,000,000,000, as compared with Califonia's population of 4,021,320, on an area of 158,297 square miles and $15,031,734,000 estimated wealth.

Germany is one of the great agricultural nations of the world. While California is nearly equal in area and in her hydro electric power, irrigation soil, climate and access to profitable home and world-wide foreign markets, possesses far great and superior advantages—we have a long way to go before we can equal the population and wealth of Germany.

By comparison evidently then we should utilize our present developed resources in irrigation—in hydro electricity—in transportation to their maximun economic capactity, before undertaking new projects.

California, and each of our Western States, can support a very much larger population, with an increased production on our present developed areas.

What we need is more intensive cultivation of our irrigated areas in diversified crops and more intensive use of our developed hydro electricity in the fabrication of our raw materials for home and foreign markets.

California is importing millions of dollars of dairy and animal products, which we can profitably produce at home.

The United States is importing hundreds of millions of dollars of sugar and cotton, for which we have abundant irrigated areas to product and hydro electricity to manufactures, far better than any other part of the world.

We are exporting wool and hides at a low price and importing clothes and shoes at a high price—a wonderful opportunity for cooperative marketing.

The time is coming and not far distant when California will have to grow her motor fuel and in this we are better prepared than any other state or nation.

These are but a few of the many ways in which we can increase the economic utilization of our developed resources, automatically adding to our population and wealth, and in coming issues Western Irrigation will run a series of constructive articles, pointing out how we can profit from the intensive use of our present irrigation and hydro electricity.—Western Irrigation.

THE GAP IS CLOSED

Sixty-three years is a brief space so far as history is concerned. Yet within that time what a miracle of healing and growth of friendship has been wrought between once sundered sections. When the weary soldiers of the Blue and the Gray were mustered out of service few of them believed the time would ever come when they would be welcomed to a join reunion at the nation's capital. But that great and beautiful thing has come to pass. Today we see a huge monument to the men who wore the gray. cut into the side of Stone Mountain—and paid for by the federal government. In no other land, among no other people, was there ever such a closing of as great chasm. In no other country would it have been possible. But that gap has been closed forever; the blue and the gray have woven into one color so far as uniform is concerned. And nothing affords us more pleasure as a united people than a realization of this fact as we approach the sixty-third anniversary of a reunited nation.

A CRYING NEED

It has long been a puzzle to us why this country cannot agree upon uniform traffic laws and regulations. Ask any Washington Township motorist who has visited other states in his rambles, and he will tell you that in every city a driver gets into he finds a different set of traffic laws for his guidance. One city permits right-hand turns, another forbids them; one city has one kind of parking laws, another city has laws directly opposite. The result is confusion, embarassment, and always the pleasure of motoring is destroyed because a strange driver is constantly worrying for fear he is going to violate a traffic regulation. The United States isn't so big that it cannot have uniform-regulations to cover motor car driving. It is bound to come sometime. Just why it has been so long delayed is hard to understand, and especially when it is desired by every car owner in the United States.

We're again around to the time in Washington Township when most of us would ask nothing nicer than a job wandering around over the desert of Sahara hunting for a mess of dandelion greens.

Hodges, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Florence Hudson, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. T. D. Chadbourne, Mrs. Philip Moore, Mrs. Ed. Hawley.

Mrs. Roland Bendel, president of the hostess club, presided during the program given during and following the luncheon. Mrs. Andrew Bunting of San Jose, accompanied by Mrs. Kibbe of Niles, gave three vocal numbers especially appropriate to the out-of-doors, choosing as an encore, "Thank God for a Garden." Miss Arwina Ormsby and Mrs. Charlotte Foster rendered piano solos.

Martha Lee's address was a decided success, judging from the reception given it. She gave a brief resume of some of the most interesting facts brought to light in the recent old cook book contest in The Tribune, reading excerpts from some of these books and interspersing her own comments and criticisms.

She referred to these old books as the backwaters of literature, declaring that most of them had a literary style of their own, reflecting the manners, habits and cutoms of the day they represented. Many demonstrated the fact that the sciences of medicine and cookery had their beginnings together, special departments of household remedies being found in the books printed up to as late as 1850, discontinuance of this being due probably to the spread of patent medicines. Formulas for beautifying lotions were also contained in the old cook books as were comments on diet as an aid to health, "A cure for obseity" printed in the 16th century (recommending the drinking of fennel water.)

Salt and pepper, garlic and onions were found to be seasonings back in the far away days and nasturtiums were used for seasoning during the 10th and 11th centuries. Table cloths appeared during the 15th century. Knives came into use before forks, a deep-seated predjuice seeming to be entertained by most people against the latter. In 1618 some one wrote in opposition to the fork as a rival to the fingers for eating purposes, "We need no little forks to may hay with our muoths."

Among the books sent in during the Tribue contest many were found dating father back than the middle of the last century. Twenty-seven dated before 1850, the oldest dating back to 1795, a venerable volume that has been in service in one family from generation to generation for 132 years. (This book was displayed and excerpts read from it.)

In 1806, "The Young Woman's Companion" was published. This contained a treatise on arithmetic, a system of writing, comments on geography, a guide to letter writing, etc., in short, containing all that a young woman in 1806 should know. "Europe is the least important of the four parts of the earth but the most respectable," this book stated, further declaring that Asia was the most illustrious since it was the place of the creation of man. Of the United States were brief comments upon Boston, "it's metropolis,, and New York, "a city located upon an islend."

One of the books was entitled "Gastronomic Regenerator." Another was dedicated to "those who are not ashamed to practice frugality." This suggested that carpets be not swept too often as they would thus be worn out. An article decrying the growing rage for traveling and public amusements reflected vividly the change in attitude of that day and this, the article suggesting that "travel is cheap—so is staying at home. Traveling causes the clothes to be worn out twenty times faster than they would be at home—home becomes isipid after the excitement of travel and amusements."

In closing Martha Lee made a prophetic statement, which she declared in an aside was not meant to be a scientific one, that the time would come when we would cease to eat as we now regard the term and that instead we would go to our doctor or specialist and obtain a prescription as to what vitamins, etc., that our systems needed, that we would carry this formula to the laboratory where we would be supplied with tablets to be taken three times a day or oftener and having taken this perfect food perfectly adapted to our individual needs we should all be healthy and beautiful, and even thin, and cook books would cease to exist exerpt as curious specimens of a surviving literature.

Following the program it was a case of "The king is dead, long live the king"—with greetings and farewells, regrets for the retiring officers, congratulations for the new. Mrs. F. G. Anthearn, retiring president of the federation, declared that she means to remain at home "lest it become insipid after the excitement of travel and public amusements," while Mrs. Williamson, the incoming president, is to leave the first of June for an extended European trip.

FISHER GOLDEN WEDDING NOTABLE SOCIAL EVENT

Standing out among the social events of the past week and in fact in the township for some time was the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher at the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. E. Martenstein last Thursday.

A beautifully appointed dinner was served at 1 o'clock at which 28 guests were seated and during the afternoon more than 100 people of the community called to express their good wishes and congratulations to this couple who have meant much in the lives of their fellowtownsmen during the ten years they have spent here.

Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thane, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Donovan, Mrs. Benjamine Tyson, Mrs. C. A. Martenstein, Mrs. O. C. Walpert and Mrs. Robert Tyson of Niles; Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Nichols of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Northorp, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and Mr. Craven of Selma; Mrs. Rork of Walnut Creek; and out-of-state visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Abel Fisher of Butler, Pa.; Mrs. Plant and Mrs. Lewis of New Castle, Pa., these having made the journey from the east especially for the wedding celebration. Two of the six grand-children were present, Miss Ruth Fisher of San Francisco and litle Miss Stella Mae Martenstein.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher were born in Shipley, Yorkshire, England. After they had been married four years they iame to America and settled in New Castle, moving later to Butler where they remained until they came to Niles ten years ago to make their home next door to their only daughter, Mrs. C. E. Martenstein.

They had three children, one of whom passed away, leaving Mrs. Martenstein and Mr. Abel Fisher.

An elaborate display of gifts, marking the happy event, were received, including many pieces of silver, gold, crystal, pictures, etc. One of the noteworthy gifts was a quilted spread of gold and white, quilted by the Ladies' Guild of the church in New Castle where Mr. Fisher sang for so many years.

The table was decorated with golden roses and other flowers of this hue, a gold and white bell from which streamers were hung being placed above the center of the table. Tiny brides and grooms were used as place cards. The wedding cake as well as the other artistic appointments of the table were made and arranged by Mrs. Martenstein.

There were no toasts, but after the dinner was completed a number of old-time songs were sung by the guests while seated. Following this, Mr. Fisher, the groom, accompanied by his son at the piano, sang a quaint old English song, "Ding dong, ding dong, this is my wedding day."

Mr. George Donovan sang an orignal arrangements of "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and Robert Tyson and Miss Ruth Fisher also gave several vocal numbers. Piano numbers were furnished by the little grand-daughter, Stella Mae Martenstein.

The spacious rooms of the residence were profusely decorated with floral arrangements, such as are available only in California in this season of the roses.

NILES RESIDENT VISITS FRIENDS IN HONOLULU

There comes a time in the lives of many women when they are "ashamed of their age," but as the years roll by and health and vigor remain, that same age becomes an ever increasing glory. (I'm not insinuating that this lady of whom I am speaking ever showed any hesitancy in announcing the sum total of her summers in this land, nor have I been given permission to announce what that total is now, but those who know "Nanna" know that she has been here a long time, long enough to make a host of friends not only throughout the Township but scattered almost to the four corners of the globe.)

Lou've already guessed I'm referring to Mrs. Emilie Chittenden of the Belvoir Hotel at Niles, who is visiting friends in Honolulu. She sailed a few weeks ago and expects to return the middle of June if possible to obtain passage, but inasmuch as the teachers are leaving the island for their vacations, it may be be possible Mrs. Chittenden will not be able to sail before July.

"ON BOARD THE S. S. MANOA, April 21.—We are having a very calm trip—the ocean like a great lake. Last night we had an interesting bridge game. Tonight we we have moving pictures on board at eight.

"April 26.—This is our last day on board. I am the first one in the social hall so far. I got up at six just as the deck hands were cleaning up the decks. It is lovely this morning. The night before the boat rolled badly and once in a while you would hear dishes fall as tables went over, or some other kind of a crash. I had to brace myself in my berth to keep in bed but on the whole we have had an enjoyable time. One of the interesting times we have had was the four-table bridge game which lasted two days. I took took a Mrs. Davis' place. She had a score of 2400 and I kept up the good work, ending with 5,000. I played as a man and I hear I am to get a necktie.

"Honolulu, April 29.—We are just home from tea at the Elk's Club on the beach of Waikiki. * * * * We are planning to go to Hilo. Must see the volcano once more although it is not active now. Am so glad I saw it once at its best. * * The flowers are wonderful. The trees will be in full bloom very soon.

"May 4.—We are having such beautiful rides. * ' Tomorrow afternoon we are going to the Governor's reception.——"

Old friends and new ones are making Mrs. Chittenden's visit one of much interest and gayety. And how characteristic to remember to enquire about so many of those she left behind!

MRS. ABEL FISHER HONOR GUEST AT BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Abel Fisher of Pennsylvania, who is visiting in Niles will be the guest of honor at a bridge party Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Bonde.

Mrs. G. H. Hudson visited her daughter, Mrs. Button in Burlingame the last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jeleff and their young son from San Francico.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Magee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shinn for the past week end.

MRS. FORD STILL ILL

CHOSEN QUEEN

Miss Izabel Ferry has been chosen queen for the Centerville Holy Ghost celebration scheduled for May 28 and 29. Her maids of honor will be Miss Olive Silva and Miss Helen Amaral. William J. Furtado is chairman of arrangements.

The festivities will include parades, the saying of mass and in the afternoon of the 29th the customary sale of livestock and articles will be held.

MRS. ADAMS HOSTESS TO COUNTRY CLUB GROUP

Mrs. John Adams of Niles was hostess to the literary section of the Country Club at her home Tuesday afternoon. This was the last meeting until after the vacation season.

Among those present were Mrs. G. Norris of Centerville, Mrs. W. A. Sloan of Irvington, Mrs. Anderson of Irvington, Mrs. Florence M. Hudson and Mrs. Adams.

BE STRONG

Seek but the best in every man.
Be strong.
When your time comes to cross life's span,
Be strong.
God gives you guidance for each day,
And will protect you all the way.
Be strong.
When trials seem to overwhelm,
Be strong.
Christ, the Lord, is at the helm,
Be strong.
He will protect from sin and strife;
In Him we find eternal life.
Be strong.
If shadows fall across your way,
Be strong.
Draw near to God and quietly pray,
Be strong.
His arms await your human meart,
His precious blessings to impart.
Be strong.

ALL over the world—wherever there are men and women who claim the privilege of American citizenship—May 30 will be observed as the day on which we honor our soldier dead. For Memorial Day has outgrown its original significance as a day of remembrance for the men who wore the Blue and those who wore the Gray in the greatest civil war in history, the War Between the States of 1861 to 1865. America's soldier dead lie buried in many lands—in Cuba, in the Philippines, in Mexico and in France, Belgium and England.

In the environs of the City of Mexico there is a little cemetery in which a small granite shaft stands, bearing these words: "To the memory of the American soldiers who perished in this valley in 1847, whose bones, collected by the country's orders, are here buried—750." Memorial Day is a day of remembrance for those 750 Americans as much as it is for any of the hundreds of thousands whose graves in cemeteries in every state of the Union will be covered with flowers on May 30 of this year, 1927. Since 1918 the world-wide significance of Memorial Day for Americans has been more apparent because of the long rows of white crosses in England and France and Belgium. In a military cemetery at Romagne-sous-Montfaucon in the Meuse-Argonne region of France there are 14,045 of these crosses. In the Oise-Aisne cemetery there are 5,934; at St. Mihiel, 4,141; in the Aisne-Marne, 2,212; at the Somme, 1,816; at Suresnes, 1,506; in Flanders Field in Belgium, 365, and at Brookwood, England, 437.

So it is in remembrance of those 30,502 American soldiers, who are buried in eight European cemeteries, and the 46,214, who have been brought home to rest beneath the soil of their native land, as well as the countless host of the dead heroes of the Civil war, the Indian wars, the Spanish-American and every other conflict in which the United States has ever been engaged, that Memorial Day will be celebrated this year.

If there is any one Memorial Day ceremony which is outstanding it undoubtedly will be that in the great amphitheater in Arlington cemetery near Washington where President Coolidge will voice the nation's tribute to its soldier dead. Around him will be grouped high government officials and ambassadors of foreign countries. But it will not be the presence of great men which will make the Memorial Day services there notable. It is the place itself which is the incarnation of the spirit of Memorial Day—Arlington cemetery, where stands the memorial to the "Unknown Dead" of the Civil war and where was placed the greatest of all American shrines, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Of all national celebrations, Americans have best preserved the original connotation of "holy day" for "holiday" in the case of Memorial Day. Untouched by the commercialism and the materialism which has crept into the observance of other special days, it has a dignity and a spirituality all of its own. Perhaps the fact that it was conceived in love and perpetuated in reverence has made it so.

For it was the touch of a woman's hand, laying flowers upon the grave of an enemy—perhaps the very one who was responsible for the death of some one near and dear to her—, whose example of loving kindness and forgiveness for past hatreds eventually brought about the observance of Memorial Day. In 1866 Miss Lizzie Rutherford of Columbus, Miss., suggested to the members of the Ladies' Aid society, who had been carefully attending the graves of Confederate dead, that April 26 be set aside each year as a special day for decorating these graves.

Her suggestion was at once adopted by the society and on April 26, 1866, the first Memorial day service was held in St. Luke's Methodist church in Columbus with Col. James M. Ramsey as the orator of the day. On that day the graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers buried near Columbus were decorated with flowers. In the meantime letters to women in other southern towns resulted in the adoption of April 26 for a general observance of a memorial day for the soldier dead.

In the spring of 1867 a New York newspaper published a paragraph in which this brief statement was made, "The women of Columbus, Miss., have shown themselves impartial in their offerings made to the memory of the dead. They strewed flowers alike on the graves of Confederate and National soldiers." In 1867 the nation was still bleeding from the wounds of the war, and anger, hatred and suspicion were still rife. But this action by the women in the South sent a thrill throughout the North and the following year, Gen. John A. Logan, national commander of the G. A. R., designated May 30 for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades.

How General Logan came to issue the famous order to his comrades of the G. A. R. which resulted in the observance of May 30 as Memorial Day, or "Decoration Day," as it was first known and as it is still often referred to, was related a few years ago by his widow, for many years known as "The Grand Old Lady of Washington." The story, as told by Mrs. Logan, follows:

The late Col. Charles L. Wilson, editor of the Chicago Journal of that day, invited a party consisting of his niece Miss Anna Wilson (later Mrs. Horatia May), Miss Farrar, his fiancee (all now dead); General Logan, and myself, to visit the battlefields around Richmond in March, 1868. The importance of some measures then pending in congress prevented General Logan, at the last moment, from going, but he insisted upon my going with these friends. We made a tour of every battlefield, fortification, temporary barricade and cemetery around the erstwhile Confederate capital, driving about in old tumble-down vehicles, drawn by lean, jaded horses, driven by thinly clad, poorly fed men, who had survived the long siege of Richmond. We saw the colored men, women and children digging out the lead and iron which had been shot into the fortifications, almost the only support of these wretched people. Visiting cemeteries and church yards, we were deeply touched by the withered wreaths and tiny flags that marked the graves of the Confederate dead. In the bleak March wind and light-falling snow, the desolation seemed most oppressive.

Returning together to the old Willard hotel, where we then lived, sitting in our parlor after dinner, we recounted to General Logan the incidents of the trip and how deeply touched we were by the devastation and ravishes of war. In the churchyard around an old historic church at Petersburg, every foot of the ground seemed occupied by the graves of the Confederate dead. Upon them lay wreaths, once beautiful flowers, now crumbling, which had been placed there by loving hands. Little faded Confederate flags marked each grave, mute evidence of the devotion of the southern people to their loved and lost. General Logan was much impressed by our description, saying, "The Greeks and Romans in the day of their glory were wont to honor their hero dead by chaplets of laurel and flowers, as well as in bronze and stone," and that as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and member of congress from Illinois, which he then was, he would issue an order establishing Memorial Day, then called "Decoration Day." He declared at the same time that he believed that he could secure the adoption of a joint resolution making it a national holiday and a national ceremony. He then took up a pencil and paper and wrote the matchless order No. 11.

As a result of this order formal exercises were held at Arlington, Va. (later the site of the present Arlington National cemetery) on May 30, 1868, the principal ceremony being the decoration with flags and flowers of the monument to the "Unknown Dead," a memorial that had been erected to the memory of 2,111 unidentified dead found on the fields of Bull Run and the route to Rappahannock. The day was also observed in other parts of the country by strewing flowers on the soldiers' graves, in accordance with General Logan's order, but the term Memorial Day or Decoration Day had not yet been adopted.

The idea spread rapidly, however, and at the ceremonies held by the G. A. R. in Monument cemetery in Philadelphia on May 29, 1875, it was recorded that "the annual floral decoration of the graves of our dead soldiers has become a national custom." For it was doing much to heal the wounds of the war and, in uniting to honor their dead, the North and the South were forgetting the bitterness of a few short years before. One of the most significant bits of evidence of this occurred in Brooklyn when on the eve of May 30, 1877, a great throng assembled in the Academy of Music to hear the chief orator of the day—Judge Roger A. Pryor, formerly brigadier general in the Confederate army.

From that time on Memorial Day celebrations were increasingly a symbol of a nation reunited. Especially was this true of those which followed the Spanish-American war, in which sons of men who had worn the Blue fought and died beside sons of men who had worn the Gray. And it was even more true of Memorial Day celebrations since 1919. The World war has left America this heritage—a Memorial Day of broader and deeper meaning than it has ever had before. It knows no North, no South, no East, no West. It honors the fighting men of no particular war, but of all wars. It is a trumpet call to all Americans to pay reverent tribute to the memory of their honored dead—the AMERICAN soldier.

General Orders No. 11

"Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic,
Adjutant General's Office,
446 14th Street, Washington, D. C.
May 5, 1868.

"General Orders, No. 11.

"I. The 30th day of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating, the graves of comrades who died in defence of their country during the late rebellion, and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village, hamlet and churchyard in the land. In this observance, no form of ceremony is prescribed, but posts and comrades will, in their own way, arrange such fitting services and testimonials of respect, as circumstances may permit.

"We are organized, comrades, as our regulations tell us, for the purpose among other things, 'of preserving and strengthening those kind and fraternal feelings which have bound together the soldiers, sailors and marines, who united together to suppress the late rebellion.' What can aid more to assure this result than by cherishing tenderly the memory of our heroic dead, who made their breasts a barricade between our country and its foes. Their soldier lives were the reveille of freedom to a race in chains, and their deaths the tattoo of rebellious tyranny in arms. We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. All that the consecrated wealth and taste of the nation can add to their adornment and security, is but a fitting tribute to the memory of her slain defenders. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed grounds. Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time, testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten, as a people, the cost of a free and undivided republic.

"If other eyes grow dull, and other hands slack, and other hearts grow cold in the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well, as long as the light and warmth of life remain to us.

"Let us, then, at the time appointed, gather around their sacred remains, and garland the passionless mounds above them with the choicest flowers of springtime; let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor; let us, in this solemn presence, renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us a sacred charge upon a nation's gratitude—the soldier's widow and orphan.

"II. It is the purpose of the commander-in-chief to inaugurate this observance, with the hope that it will be kept up from year to year, while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of his departed comrades. He earnestly desires the public press to call attention to this order, and lend its friendly aid in bringing it to the notice of comrades in all parts of the country in time for simultaneous compliance therewith.

"III. Department commanders will use every effort to make this order effective.

"By order of John A. Logan,
Commander-in-Chief.

"Official: N. P. Chipman, Adjutant General."

New Jewel Fad

Paris has what is considered the most expensive fad of all. It is that each month of the year the chic woman must wear the month's "birthstone"—the ruby during July, the opal during October and the other stones according to their month. The fad was started by a blond actress of the Comedie Francaise, whose whims are adopted by many as fashion's law. Many rich women have taken up the idea with real jewelry, but this vogue probably will be followed by others who can sport only synthetic gems.

Need of Sympathetic Understanding in Dealing With Youthful Transgressors

By FRANK X. M'QUADE, New York Magistrate.

WHAT a problem children's courts present to the thinking men and women of America! It is my opinion that all first offenders should be freed. But even then, when you release them, if there is nothing better for them to go back to than the streets, what are you going to do when they are brought back as second offenders? The problem is not in the courts, primarily. It's in the living conditions, in the playing conditions that send us these children.

The little girls of any city—what a problem! They need understanding—comprehension of their desires to have pretty clothes and good times. They need sympathy—and a place to play in and dance in and be entertained. If they had those things, some of the "kick" would be taken out of wanting to be naughty just for the fun of being naughty, of taking a drink from a hip-pocket flask just because it is smart to do so, of swearing and smoking and wearing indecent clothes, when they should be playing dolls.

What we need is sanity—not fervor. It's a cold-blooded proposition, and it should be studied and solved so, with a deep-lying foundation of sympathetic understanding. These youngsters who land in my court were not born bad; they just had no opportunity to be otherwise. All of them do not come from tenements, either. Some of them come from comfortable, even wealthy homes, where no one took the trouble to see that fun was made sane and the thing that people expected a child to have.

Back of every criminal there is a story of a childhood made unhappy, of a chance that was never given to make that child into a useful citizen. Life makes them or breaks them just in proportion to the chance they get when they are youngsters.

"Safety First" Poor Rule for Travelers on the Road to Faith

By BISHOP WILLIAM R. GUERRY.

God doesn't endow the seeker after faith with an automobile map to find his way. He doesn't tell man in advance of the difficulties he will encounter along the road of life. Like Abraham, God leads men through faith through the difficulties and distractions of modern life until the windows of heaven are opened unto him. The great difficulty with many men of today is that they are afraid to make a start toward faith. They think all difficulties must be removed before they start.

In the journey of the soul toward God, remember this, that God never solves our difficulties in advance. He never removes the possibility of risk or mistake. Like Abraham, we must heed the first call of God, believing that if we start out to seek Him He will meet us as He did the patriarch at Shechem and at Hebron and give us fresh light upon the journey, until at last He will bring us up some Mount Moriah to test and prove our faith.

Safety first is a good rule for the road, but a rotten rule for life. What would become of the romance of life if you put out of it the possibility of failure? Every great forward step, every new experience in life, is attended by risk. Why should religion be the only exception? Why should we hesitate in the light of experience to make the great and supreme effort to discover and know God?

The blessings of Christianity and the spiritual rewards which Christ has to offer are worth all the risk, all the toil and hardship which one may endure in coming to know Him as the Way, the Truth and the Life.

American Women Not Militaristic, but Realize Need of National Defense

By MRS. ALFRED J. BROSSEAU, President General D. A. R.

I have found in my travels about the country since I became president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution that our women have a growing interest in civic, state and federal institutions. They want to vote intelligently and thoughtfully and to take their full share of responsibility of the national housekeeping.

In my service of one year as president general of the D. A. R. the outstanding thing we have accomplished, in my opinion, is the Woman's Patriotic Conference for National Defense held in co-operation with thirty-one other woman's organizations in Washington in February.

There is no militaristic spirit in the hearts of American women, their every reaction is toward peace. But with fine intuition they know that the sense of the need of protection and the right to defend by arms has not yet been eradicated from the heart of man. So long as that is true; so long as other nations show visible evidences of aggression, women have a right to insist upon certain principles of defense in order that possible warfare may be made for them less of a torture rack.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, well established as they are in practically every city and town of the country, are in an ideal position to drive home the splendid lessons of our history with a force that will leave no doubt in the minds of youth that our founders and patriots were truly great men and that they had courage, sagacity, a vision of the future, godliness and what is most important of all, a pure and unselfish love of country.

Woman's Happiness, and Her Greatest Duty, Found by the Family Fireside

By DR. DAVID MARX, Atlanta (Ga.) Rabbi.

Eventually every woman will find out that her happiness lies at the family fireside. There lies her greatest duty. What is the value of a world where children have ceased to honor parents? What is the value of a world where we go out to aid humanity and neglect our duty to our own children?

Judaism stands for values and primarily the value of the home. Judaism emphasizes the hearth and woman's place in the home. She presides at her own table. She is queen of her household. No Sabbath was ever a Jewish Sabbath unless the mother of the family lighted and blessed the candles for the return of her sons and husband from the services. Because the mother blessed the wine and taught that things which are sacred must not be abused, no Jewish household in olden days ever produced drunkenness. The children of such mothers arose and called her blessed.

Old-time religon cannot be brought back, but its underlying principles can. Religious values can be perpetuated through the use we make of them. No children can become religious unless their parents practice religion. You possess the power to either bless or curse your children and their children. You curse them if you forget that man does not live by bread alone and if you are thoughtless enough to place material success above religious values.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

People have to live first before they can see, and they can't think until they are fed, and one needs always to have had enough turnips and cabbages to eat without troubling about the getting them, in order to see anything in them except food.—Mrs. Wilkins.

UNUSUAL CHICKEN DISHES

The familiar forms of the usual way of cooking chicken is relieved from monotony by various seasonings. One does not wish the character of a dish to be lost by seasonings, but the art of surprising with the familiar things is worth cultivating.

Chicken a la Marengo—It is this dish which was served the great Napoleon after the battle of Marengo—it so pleased the great man that the dish was named for the battle. The following is a recipe which claims the honor:

Singe and cut up a five-pound chicken as for fricassee. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and add three tablespoonfuls of the best olive oil. When the fat is hot, add the dark meat of the chicken and cook for five minutes, then add the white meat with a clove of garlic and salt and pepper; stir often until each piece is well browned—about twenty minutes. Have ready a tomato sauce made from one can of tomatoes, a slice of onion, a little parsley and celery which have been cooked together until thick, then rubbed through a sieve; add one tablespoonful of butter. To the chicken add one-half pound of fresh mushrooms which have been cooked in butter five minutes. Arrange the chicken on a hot platter, add to the gravy in the pan three tablespoonfuls of the tomato puree, stir until hot, pour over the chicken and serve.

Chicken a la Stanley.—Add one large onion thinly sliced to one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add two young chickens cut into pieces for serving and cook for ten minutes; add one cupful of chicken stock and cook until the meat is tender. Remove the chicken, rub the stock and onion through a sieve, add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter and the same of flour, cooked together. Season with salt and pepper, serve on a hot platter with the sauce poured around it. Garnish with banana, cut into diagonal slices and fried in butter. Dip the banana in seasoned flour before frying.

Chicken a la Marengo No. 2.—Cut the chicken, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Fry in a little salt pork fat. Put into a stew pan, cover with the following sauce, and cook slowly until the chicken is tender. Add one-half can of mushrooms cut into quarters and cook five minutes. Arrange the chicken on a dish and garnish with parsley. Serve with the sauce poured round the chicken:

Sauce.—Cook one-fourth of a cupful of butter with one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion, one slice of carrot, one slice of turnip cut into cubes. Add one-fourth of a cupful of flour, a dash of cayenne, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, and cook until the flour is well browned. Add gradually two cupfuls of boiling water and one-half cupful of stewed tomato, cook five minutes, strain and serve.

Sea Foods.

Fish should be served oftener; one may not be able to have the fresh fish in any locality, but the canned, smoked, pickled and salted are usually in ordinary markets; if not, by mail or express they will be sent to any address.

Planked Spanish Mackerel.—Split down the back a two-pound mackerel, dust with salt and pepper and rub thoroughly with salad oil. Lay on an oiled plank, place in a very hot oven for about twenty-five minutes. Baste frequently with melted butter and a few drops of lemon juice. Remove from the oven and pipe seasoned mashed potato around the fish, brush with the yolk of egg beaten and run the plank under the gas flame to brown. Have meat from a half pound of cooked lobster, dip in butter and lay around the fish. Garnish with slices of lemon and parsley.

Fillet of Sole Marguery.—Take a three-pound sole, one-half pint of cooked shrimp, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half cupful of mushrooms, one tablespoonful of flour, three slices of lemon and onion, three stalks of celery, one-fourth teaspoonful of celery salt and two egg yolks. Put enough water into a saucepan or fish kettle to cover the fillets, add lemon, onion, one tablespoonful of butter, celery and celery salt; cook ten minutes, then add the fish; cook till tender but unbroken; remove the fish to a platter and keep hot over hot water, strain the sauce, adding another tablespoonful of butter, the shrimp and mushrooms. Cover and let cook ten minutes, then stir in the flour mixed with enough water to make a paste. Stir and cook five minutes, add the beaten yolks and cook just long enough to heat through, but not boil. Add more seasoning if needed.

6 things to understand about used car allowances

1 When you trade-in your used car for a new car, you are after all making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i. e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

4 The largest allowance is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

5 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

6 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

Bathers "Conservative"

You can introduce a bath into a village, but you cannot make the villagers bathe in it, is about the conclusion drawn by Rev. Gordon Smythe, rector in the village of Stow St. Mary, England. The community of four farmers and their hundred workers raised $1,000 for a new schoolhouse, and the enterprising rector collected a sufficient amount in addition to install two modern baths. Tubs have been the only bathing places of the villagers, and they were "conservative," as the rector explained, about using the new tubs. He, however, has hopes of inducing some of the leaders to encourage their children to take a bath at the schoolhouse and thus start the fashion.
